

LOWBIC Spotlight: Hoolio and Goober

Montana Lomnicki and Ashley Schuster, Owners

“We were both wanting to do something out of our comfort zone, we knew we wanted to work together, and opening a clothing store came to mind- we both thought what a great idea. Montana's Grandparents owned the Kenricia Hotel and her uncle opened a clothing store in it called "Hoolio & Goober Union" which her mother worked at. We loved the name and decided to ‘bring it back.’ The type of clothing that we sell is woman's business casual targeting young profession woman.

LOWBIC has been supportive of our start-up business needs by securing our line of credit and providing great interest rates. We recommend that you meet with them for your small business needs today," says Ashley.

Hoolio and Goober is now officially open! Give them a visit at 239 Second Street, right beside Rednex Rebellion and “like” them on Facebook
